announced the passage of chapter 130, of evidence, and chapter 131, of the court docket, &c.

They were read the first time.

It also announced that the Honse had disagreed to most of the amendments made by the Senate to chapter 44. of ferries, toll-bridges, &c.; chapter 46, of the poor; chapter 47, of towns and villages, and chapter 50, of justices and constables.

On motion of Mr. Wilson, Said chapters were laid on the table.

Mr. Hoke, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported back chapter 95, of money and interest, with an amendment which was agreed to.

Mr. Boreman moved to amend the chapter, so that a person charging more than 6 per cent would forfeit the whole of his contract. But the motion was lost. Those voting for it were Messrs. Boreman, Dawson, Drummond, Price and Werninger—5.

The chapter was then ordered to its third reading.

He also reported back chapter 116, of juries generally, with an amendment, which was adopted, and the chapter ordered to its third reading.

Mr. Price introduced a joint resolution, "asking Congress to aid in the construction of the Mcnongabela Valley Railroad." The resolution lays over one day under the rules.

On motion of Mr. Boreman, chapter 59, of weights and measures; chapter 64, of divorces; chapter 77, of wills, and chapter 103, of actions for injuries, were taken from the table and referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The following chapters were passed: 109, of the Writ of Mandamus; 110, Of the Writ of Mandamus; 110, Of the Writ of Prohibition; 113, Supreme Court of Appeals; 114, General Provisions relating to the Courts; 115, Seals; 117, Of Clerks of Courts; 118, of Recorders; 119, Of Attorneys at Law; 120, Of the Attorney General and Proventing Attorneys; 121, Of Notices and Motions; 122, Of Changing a person's name; and :the joinder of tenants in common; 123, Of the County in which proceedings are commenced: The following chapters were read the second time, and ordered to third reading: 125, of payments and set off; 128, of the removal of causes pending In one court to another; 129, of appointment of commissioners and proceedings on accounts referred to them. Chapter 127, of the death or change of purities, and the discontinuance of causes not prosecuted, was read the second time, and on motion of Mr. Boreman, referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

The Senate then adjourned.

ters 135, 137, 151, 152, 153, 154 and 155 of the Code.

The Clerk reported a message from the Senate announcing the passage of certain chapters of the Code, some with and others without amendments. Those amended were, on motion of Mr. Ferguson, of Cabell, referred to the Committee on Revision.

The following petitions were presented and appropriately referred:

Mr. Dunnington: a petition of J. C. Roney and others, clitzens of Maraball and Ohio counties, asking that Miss R. A. Roney, whose religious tenets prevent her from taking the oath prescribed by law, be allowed to teach school without taking the said oath.

It was objected to this amendment that it would throw the burden of proof upon the accused and not, as the law now does, upon the State.

The House refused to adopt the amendment.
Chapters 132, of decrees of sale, and 133, of injunctions, &c., were read the third time and passed.
Chapter 137, of the fees of officers, was read the third time, and the House refosed to pass it by 21 years to 32 nays.

Mr. Armstrong moved to reconsider the vote by which the chapter was lost.

A New cattle disease has recently made its appearance in England, and is said to be caused by the swine feeding too largely on acrons and horse chestnuts. Post mortem examinations show that the blood is disorganized. The symptoms are dullness, ending in extreme prostration, loss of appetite, small and frequent evacuations, colorless urine, discolored and ulcerated membranes, and a weak but not rapid pulse.

Philadelphia Press says the latest developement regarding the negotiations of Minister Johnson, relative to the Alabama claims, warrants the statement tinst Mr. Seward, in Dehalf of our government, has insisted on amendments, virtually as follows:

First—A distinct understanding must be had that the agreement on the part of Great Britain to submit the claims against the two countries to the arbitrament of a Claims Commission, is accepted by this Government as an acknowlment of a claims Commission, is accepted by this Government as an acknowledgement that the recognition of the Southern rebellious government, as a belligerent power, was a violation of the neutrality laws established by England herself. This may not be insisted on as an article in the treaty, when it is finally perfected, but it will most assuredly, form a distinct and prominent feature in the preliminary correspondence. orrespondence.

Second—That all claims against citi

Second—That all claims against citizens of this Government, which have been decided in our favor by the courist of England, shall be excluded from the consideration of the commission. It is quite probable the claims against the United States which have only been adjudicated by American courts, will not be included in this exclusion. Such an agreement as this can be effected without violation to either American or English precedent. It is believed these two points were suggested as the result of the first cabinet meeting which has occurred since the Johnson-Stanley protocal has been received, and that these will be followed by other and more significant points to be agreed on at the Cabinet meeting. In fact it is feared that the final agreement between the two governments will delayed until after the new Parliament, then as a matter of course it will be further delayed until the organization of the new Ministry, which may not possibly occur until Mr. Seward's tenure of office is about expiring; so the whole question will be bequeathed to Gen. Grant's administration. New men will take it up on both sides and it may be one, two or three years before it is finally settled. In this connection it must be remembered gingt the U.S. reckon upon the entire good will of John Bright and his followers cannot as it was settled in a dispatch of Mr. Adams to Mr. Seward in 1867, stating that Mr. Bright disapproved of the position taken by the latter toward England and nothing indicates that he has changed his mind since. zens of this Government, which have

The public debt statement for November will, from present indications, show an increase of probably $10,000,-1000, though it is not uncertain that the returns which have not yet been received at the department will materially lessen this estimate. The distributements for the past month, excepting the large amount paid on account of the Alaska purchase, were comparatively small. The amount of coin in the Treasury, including certificates, is about $90,000,000. Owing dated washington, November 29th:

DEAR SIR:—Your despatch inviting me to the hospitalities of Boston was duly received. I cannot say by what train I will reach Boston. I fully appreciate your kindness, however, and that of the citizens of your city in extending the hospitalities they have, but would ask to be excused from any and all public demonstration. I have received an invitation to the St. James to stay during my visit, where I will be happy to receive such citizens as may call. with great respect, your obedient ser-

With great respect, your obedient servant,
Alvin Flanders, delegate to Congress from Washington Territory, was arrested at Charlestown by the sheriff Nov. 1st, on a writ in favor of one Roberts of San Francisco, involving claims for $3,000. Mr. Flanders appeared in the Supreme Court yesterday with a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, demanding to be discharged, as being a delegate to Congress he was exempt from arrest in a civil sulf. Judge Foster to-day decided that the petitioner was entitled to a discharge and ordered his release.
